

A Green New Year

Holiday Decoration Disposal: If you have organic decorations, like trees and wreaths, check with your municipality to see if they offer disposal services.

Some communities will and let it decompose naturally instead of landfilling. It can be reused as mulch and dirt!

Make sure the decorations are free of any ornaments, tinsel, and non-organic materials before disposal.

Electronics: Getting rid of electronics responsibly is very important because they contain hazardous materials. Staples and Best Buy will take certain electronics, and some transfer stations accept them too. Check with the station before bringing it over!

If they're in working condition, consider donating them to Habitat for Humanity or other similar places.

Save Energy: If you have electric heating, you know winter months can become costly!

One way to prevent using excess energy is to purchase reusable, static cling window wraps to keep cold air out and insulate your home.
