SUSTAINABLE HOLIDAYS

There are always leftovers after a Thanksgiving feast. Visit our website to watch food demonstrations organized in collaboration with the Culinary Institute of America, where you can get new, creative ideas to transform them into new meals.

December is a popular month for gift giving, so be mindful of your waste. It's always cost effective and sustainable to reuse as much gift wrapping as possible - and it's easy! Neatly fold tissue paper, bags, and unripped wrapping paper to store for next year.

Remember that shiny, glossy, and glittery wrapping paper cannot be recycled and is considered garbage. Never place holiday lights or electronics into the recycling bin.
